

Honey Production On The Prairies

ding to records, quickmanned ed 13 warships one night in

Possibility Is Seen That British Troops Invading Enemy Held Territory

In the "Battle of the Atlantic" it would not be surprising if Germany rather than Germany try invasion—a whole series of little invasions in the form of raids.

For these British have more than 4,000 miles of enemy-held coastline to choose from.

If the steady hammering by the Royal Air Force is not enough to drive the Germans to try invasion, the British have another card to play: the possibility of a surprise attack on the coast of the British Isles.

At least five incidents have indicated that British forces can and do raid the continent by parachute means and weapons.

Already British authorities have announced one such party was land on the coast of the French coast, and considerable damage was done.

Several times, according to military sources, motorcycle parties have landed from small boats and made their way to the coast.

The most ambitious effort along this line was the landing of the British commandos on the coast of the French coast.

It is not surprising that the British commandos have been able to land on the coast of the French coast.

It is not surprising that the British commandos have been able to land on the coast of the French coast.

It is not surprising that the British commandos have been able to land on the coast of the French coast.

It is not surprising that the British commandos have been able to land on the coast of the French coast.

It is not surprising that the British commandos have been able to land on the coast of the French coast.

It is not surprising that the British commandos have been able to land on the coast of the French coast.

It is not surprising that the British commandos have been able to land on the coast of the French coast.

It is not surprising that the British commandos have been able to land on the coast of the French coast.

It is not surprising that the British commandos have been able to land on the coast of the French coast.

It is not surprising that the British commandos have been able to land on the coast of the French coast.

It is not surprising that the British commandos have been able to land on the coast of the French coast.

It is not surprising that the British commandos have been able to land on the coast of the French coast.

It is not surprising that the British commandos have been able to land on the coast of the French coast.

It is not surprising that the British commandos have been able to land on the coast of the French coast.

Courage Of Indian Officers BURNING ALWAYS RETURN

Courage of a 21-year-old Indian officer who went without sleep for 36 hours while commanding a supply party removing mines from the Mefema-Gondor road in Ethiopia is a story that is being told by the British press.

The commanding officer described the second lieutenant's achievement as "a feat of cold courage I have never met."

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

The Indian officer is now in the British military hospital.

Merchant Ships For Britain Are Now Being Fabricated In Factories

As part of a plan to try a new approach to the war, the British Admiralty is now equipping with up-to-date plant destroyer ships.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

The new ships are being built in a new way, and the great rivers which used to transport these assembly yards are now being used.

A public opinion poll of 25th year is known as a "Nation's Choice."

There is no other British pattern book published.

There is no other British pattern book published.

